Muharrem lived on Tane Askarajić Street in Prizren, in the Terzi Mëhallë/Mahala krojača (Tailor's Neighbourhood), with his wife Shpresa and their children, his father and his brother Rexhep. They stayed on in the bar and became tipsy. After a while, two Albanians, one of whom was a member of the KLA, came in [the name of one is known to the HLC]. When Muharrem saw that they had a machete, he told Daut to go straight home. Daut ran home and informed the people in the neighbourhood and his family that Muharrem was in danger. At about 17:00h, the brothers Ali and Rexhep hurried to the Türbe Karabeshi near the Roma cemetery. There on the street they found Muharrem's mutilated body. The police conducted an on-site investigation and took the body to the morgue, where the family came to collect it next morning. Muharrem was buried at the Roma cemetery in Prizren.
